

Raleigh Social News

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Raleigh, N. C., November 12.—Thursday afternoon Mrs. Russell Sherill entertained the Over the Tea Cup Book Club, the afternoon proving especially delightful. There were reasonable refreshments daintily served, in addition to the very enjoyable and profitable literary program.

The faculty of Peace Institute received Friday afternoon, when a large number of the women of the city called, quite a number of the students assisting in the entertainment of the callers.

Mrs. Thurman Kitchin was the guest of honor Thursday afternoon at a bridge party by Mrs. W. B. Snow. There was a profusion of Southern smilax and pink roses for the decorations. Mrs. Snow served delicious refreshments. Her guests were Mrs. A. B. Andrews, Jr., Mrs. John Andrews, Mrs. Murray Allen, Mrs. Ed. S. Battle, Mrs. R. S. Busbee, Mrs. C. B. Crow, Miss Josephine Boylan, Mrs. Albert Cox, Mrs. W. E. Drake, Mrs. James D. Litchford, Mrs. Will West, Mrs. Alex Webb, Mrs. H. W. Miller, Mrs. L. H. Mahler, Miss Hal Morrison. A prize was awarded to Miss Boylan.

Mrs. James O. Litchford entertained informally Thursday morning in honor of Mrs. John Dockery, of Rockingham, who is spending a while here with her father, Capt. N. W. West. Enjoying the hospitality of Mrs. Litchford were Mrs. Will Hunter, Mrs. R. D. W. Cannon, Mrs. Will West, Miss Sarah Cheshire, Mrs. J. K. Doughton, Mrs. Allen Rogers, Miss Josephine Ashe, Miss Hal Morrison, Mrs. Sam Ashe, Miss Wilcox of Washington, Mrs. Charles Conrad, Miss Mary Litchford, Mrs. A. G. Corpening, Mrs. W. N. Smith, Mrs. Albert Cox, Mrs. R. Y. McPherson.

The people of Raleigh were interested in the past week in the marriage of Jacques Busbee, the capital city's gifted artist, and Miss Julianna Roster, the marriage having taken place on Thursday of last week, at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Busbee are now spending their honeymoon at Chapel Hill, where Mr. Busbee is painting a life bust portrait of General William R. Davis, that will be presented to the State, November 15, by the North Carolina Society Sons of the Revolution.

Mrs. W. P. Whitaker spent several days in the city the past week with her brother, Dr. N. G. Carroll. She is living in Durham now with her sister, Mrs. Carr.

Mrs. J. E. Mann and Miss Minnie Mann have returned to Bluffton, S. C., after attending the McKimmon-Norris wedding last week.

Miss Katherine Ewing, of Enfield, has returned home after being here for the McKimmon-Norris wedding.

Mrs. P. D. Gold, Jr., and little son have gone to Greensboro to spend a while with Mr. Gold's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Baisley.

After spending several days with Mrs. John C. Drewry, Mrs. J. K. Mebane has returned to her home in Graham. After visiting at the Governor's Mansion the past few days, Mrs. Henry Long and daughter, Miss Mildred, and Miss Ida Winston, of Roxboro, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Williams, of Durham, spent Tuesday and Wednesday in the city, with Hon. Franklin McNeill and wife.

Winchester Social News

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Winchester, Va., November 12.—Mrs. Richard Evelyn Byrd left Winchester this week to spend some time in Baltimore, as the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Pearce Campbell.

Mrs. Robert K. Griffin, Jr., and her little daughter, who have been visiting at the home of Miss Mamie Griffith, near Winchester, have returned to Wheeling, W. Va.

Mrs. J. H. Lacy and Miss Salie Miller have returned to Winchester after visiting friends in Washington. Randolph Tucker McGuire, of Winchester, has been spending the past week with friends in Washington and New York.

Speaker Richard Evelyn Byrd, of the Virginia House of Delegates, returned to Richmond this week, after spending some time at his home in Winchester. Mrs. Dorsey Potter and her children have returned to their home in Parkersburg, W. Va., after spending the summer at Morgan Springs, Clarke county.

Miss Anne Strubling, of Clarke, has been visiting at the home of Mr. John B. Tilford, in Wilmington.

Mrs. Will O'Leary and her sister, Miss Harris, formerly of England, but now of Bridgeport, Conn., are visiting relatives in Winchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Esten Smith have returned to Winchester, after a visit to friends in Baltimore.

Miss Julia Reed Taylor left Winchester this week to spend some time with friends in Washington and Baltimore.

Major Robert W. Hunter went to Washington this week after spending several days at his home in Winchester. Mrs. Elizabeth Adams, of Beverly Vista, is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Kitchin, near Winchester.

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Reardon, of Winchester, have been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Reardon, at White Post, Clarke county.

Mrs. John W. Rice, of Winchester, has been visiting friends in Baltimore during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon have returned to their home in Baltimore, after spending a fortnight at their bungalow, near Front Royal.

Miss Frances Myers has returned to her home in Washington, after spending several weeks in Winchester with relatives.

Mr. Harry C. Lupton has returned to Winchester, after a visit to friends in Washington.

G. H. Harris, who has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Piper, in Winchester, has returned to Charles county, Md.

Miss Ethel Hansbrough, of Winchester, is spending some time at Old Point Comfort.

Mrs. G. R. Swink, who has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Piper, in Winchester, has returned to Norfolk.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Polhemus, of Elmira, N. Y., are visiting relatives in Winchester and vicinity.

Wesson Snowdrift Oil

Has that indeclinable something which constitutes "class" and elegance. As a salad dressing, it gives the most distinctive and superior results. As a shortening, it surpasses lard, and adds to your food a pure, healthful vegetable oil instead of indigestible animal fats. For frying it equals the finest Jersey butter, and cooks thoroughly without charring the article with grease.

No matter how you use Wesson Snowdrift Oil, it contributes a piquancy of flavor, a relish to the appetite, and a beneficial, healthful influence, which has never been attained in any household article.

It has inspired many imitations, which hope to profit by "over-praising" the purchaser. Always call especially for Wesson Snowdrift Oil. Made by

THE SOUTHERN COTTON OIL CO.

New York Savannah
New Orleans Chicago

Ask your dealer for the famous Wesson Snowdrift Oil. If he supplies it, he is supplying the best. If he does not, write direct to the Wesson Oil Co., 100 N. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill., and we will mail you a bottle of Wesson Snowdrift Oil, and a copy of the "Wesson's" book, "The Art of Living."

PATRICIAN
Shoe for Women

The Shoe of Solid Satisfaction

One of my best Customers Said to Me:

"I delight in wearing a fresh pair of shoes. Patrician have the style and comfort of eight to ten dollar shoes at about half the price. I buy twice the number of pairs of Patrician and my feet are correctly dressed for every occasion and my shoe bills are actually less than ever before. I give my shoes away directly they go out of style. I never wear them shabby, and I don't believe they ever wear out."

Fifty New Fall Styles Are Here Now

$3.50 and $4.00

Seymour Sytle,
11 W. Broad - Next J. B. Mosby & Co.

The Social Side of Washington

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Washington, D. C., November 12.—Scarcely had the President returned from his whirlwind trip to cast his congressional and gubernatorial vote in Cincinnati and received news of the result of the national election, when off he went to Panama. With him on the United States warship Tennessee were Mrs. Taft and daughter, Helen; Mrs. Taft's only unmarried sister, Miss Helen Taft, who has been an intimate visitor at the White House; Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Taft, the President's brother and his wife, who but recently returned from Europe, where they spent the summer; the secretary to the President and Mrs. Charles D. Norton; his military aide, Captain "Archie" Butt; the Beau Brummel of officialdom, and naval aide, Lieutenant-Commander Leigh Palmer, the Machiavellian prince of department.

As a result of the departure of the President and his family, the White House has been as quiet this week as it was during the first week in November. However, Mrs. Taft, managed to go to the theatre twice to make up for the time the trip will cause her to lose from her favorite diversion.

On the first occasion she was accompanied by her sister, Miss Helen, and daughter, Helen, and had as special guests Justice and Mrs. Oliver Wendell Holmes. Two boxes were required for the accommodation of the party she invited to see the veteran actor, Denham Thompson, in the play which made him famous, and which he has made famous. In keeping with her self-evident plan to show special attention to members of the Supreme Court, her party included guests at "The Old Homestead" performance were Justice and Mrs. White.

Miss Helen Taft, who spent the last week-end visiting friends in New York, returned to the White House in time for the luncheon given in her honor on Monday by Miss Ruth Filling, at her home.

At her home, she was joined by the President's brother and his wife, who but recently returned from Europe, where they spent the summer; the secretary to the President and Mrs. Charles D. Norton; his military aide, Captain "Archie" Butt; the Beau Brummel of officialdom, and naval aide, Lieutenant-Commander Leigh Palmer, the Machiavellian prince of department.

As a result of the departure of the President and his family, the White House has been as quiet this week as it was during the first week in November. However, Mrs. Taft, managed to go to the theatre twice to make up for the time the trip will cause her to lose from her favorite diversion.

On the first occasion she was accompanied by her sister, Miss Helen, and daughter, Helen, and had as special guests Justice and Mrs. Oliver Wendell Holmes. Two boxes were required for the accommodation of the party she invited to see the veteran actor, Denham Thompson, in the play which made him famous, and which he has made famous. In keeping with her self-evident plan to show special attention to members of the Supreme Court, her party included guests at "The Old Homestead" performance were Justice and Mrs. White.

Miss Helen Taft, who spent the last week-end visiting friends in New York, returned to the White House in time for the luncheon given in her honor on Monday by Miss Ruth Filling, at her home.

At her home, she was joined by the President's brother and his wife, who but recently returned from Europe, where they spent the summer; the secretary to the President and Mrs. Charles D. Norton; his military aide, Captain "Archie" Butt; the Beau Brummel of officialdom, and naval aide, Lieutenant-Commander Leigh Palmer, the Machiavellian prince of department.

As a result of the departure of the President and his family, the White House has been as quiet this week as it was during the first week in November. However, Mrs. Taft, managed to go to the theatre twice to make up for the time the trip will cause her to lose from her favorite diversion.

On the first occasion she was accompanied by her sister, Miss Helen, and daughter, Helen, and had as special guests Justice and Mrs. Oliver Wendell Holmes. Two boxes were required for the accommodation of the party she invited to see the veteran actor, Denham Thompson, in the play which made him famous, and which he has made famous. In keeping with her self-evident plan to show special attention to members of the Supreme Court, her party included guests at "The Old Homestead" performance were Justice and Mrs. White.

Miss Helen Taft, who spent the last week-end visiting friends in New York, returned to the White House in time for the luncheon given in her honor on Monday by Miss Ruth Filling, at her home.

At her home, she was joined by the President's brother and his wife, who but recently returned from Europe, where they spent the summer; the secretary to the President and Mrs. Charles D. Norton; his military aide, Captain "Archie" Butt; the Beau Brummel of officialdom, and naval aide, Lieutenant-Commander Leigh Palmer, the Machiavellian prince of department.

As a result of the departure of the President and his family, the White House has been as quiet this week as it was during the first week in November. However, Mrs. Taft, managed to go to the theatre twice to make up for the time the trip will cause her to lose from her favorite diversion.

On the first occasion she was accompanied by her sister, Miss Helen, and daughter, Helen, and had as special guests Justice and Mrs. Oliver Wendell Holmes. Two boxes were required for the accommodation of the party she invited to see the veteran actor, Denham Thompson, in the play which made him famous, and which he has made famous. In keeping with her self-evident plan to show special attention to members of the Supreme Court, her party included guests at "The Old Homestead" performance were Justice and Mrs. White.

Miss Helen Taft, who spent the last week-end visiting friends in New York, returned to the White House in time for the luncheon given in her honor on Monday by Miss Ruth Filling, at her home.

At her home, she was joined by the President's brother and his wife, who but recently returned from Europe, where they spent the summer; the secretary to the President and Mrs. Charles D. Norton; his military aide, Captain "Archie" Butt; the Beau Brummel of officialdom, and naval aide, Lieutenant-Commander Leigh Palmer, the Machiavellian prince of department.

As a result of the departure of the President and his family, the White House has been as quiet this week as it was during the first week in November. However, Mrs. Taft, managed to go to the theatre twice to make up for the time the trip will cause her to lose from her favorite diversion.

On the first occasion she was accompanied by her sister, Miss Helen, and daughter, Helen, and had as special guests Justice and Mrs. Oliver Wendell Holmes. Two boxes were required for the accommodation of the party she invited to see the veteran actor, Denham Thompson, in the play which made him famous, and which he has made famous. In keeping with her self-evident plan to show special attention to members of the Supreme Court, her party included guests at "The Old Homestead" performance were Justice and Mrs. White.

Miss Helen Taft, who spent the last week-end visiting friends in New York, returned to the White House in time for the luncheon given in her honor on Monday by Miss Ruth Filling, at her home.

corps, Austro-Hungarian Ambassador and Baroness Hengelmüller, have returned to the embassy after almost six months' absence, during which they visited their sovereign, Emperor Francis Joseph, and spent some time at their estate near Vienna. They were in the latter city to assist in the entertainment of Colonel and Mrs. Roosevelt on the occasion of their visit to Austria in the early summer, and stopped in Paris on the way back to America long enough for the baroness to do a little shopping in the interest of her reputation as "the best dressed woman in Washington." Some of her purchases were aired at Bar Harbor. Whether the ambassador and his wife went immediately after their arrival in New York, and at Lenox, where they spent the autumn season, but by far the major portion were saved for first use at the capital, where this season, more than ever, the baroness will be a shining light to society. She is who, with her distinguished husband, will lead the grand procession of foreign diplomats and their entourage.

Radiant Hair

Any Woman Can Have it by Using Parisian Sage

Madam: If your hair isn't just what you would like it to be, why don't you use Parisian Sage.

If it does not put life and lustre into the hair and cause it to grow abundantly you can have your money back from Tragle's.

Two years ago I lost all my hair and thought I would try Parisian Sage. Before I had finished using the first bottle my hair had stopped falling and my head was covered with new hair; also removed all dandruff, and to-day I have a lovely head of hair.

I think Parisian Sage the best hair restorer and dandruff cure in the world to-day. It also makes the hair clean, fluffy and silky. —Miss Mary E. Dickson, 287 South Ave., Bridgeton, N. J., 1910.

For men, women and children there is no hair preparation that equals Parisian Sage; it never disappoints; it does just what the American makers advertise it to do. It banishes dandruff, kills the dandruff germ, stops falling hair or scalp itch, or money back. Sold by Tragle and druggists everywhere. Large bottle 50 cents.

There is rejoicing at the Chinese legation over the birth of a grandchild to the minister and daughter of Henry Chang, honorary attaché of the legation. Mrs. Chang, Jr., who was formerly Miss Isabel Tong, daughter of the late special ambassador from China to this country, came to Washington with the minister and Madame Chang last autumn, and her wedding to their oldest son was an event of the Christmas season. The ceremony was performed according to the rites of Confucianism, and among the witnesses were the bride's youngest sisters, the Misses Isabel and May Tong, who, like the bride, have endeared themselves to schoolmates and neighbors. Minister Chang celebrated the advent of his first grandchild by entertaining a large company of his countrymen at luncheon and at dinner on Friday. Among the guests were members of the Imperial Railway Commission of China, who are spending some time in this country studying the details of transportation.

Miss Eleanor Terry, daughter of Rear-Admiral and Mrs. Terry, and but a few days from her twentieth birthday, will be the guest of honor at the reception of the season at the White House, when, as usual, the diplomatic corps will be guests of honor, and which she, as wife of the dean of the corps, will be the guest par excellence.

There are an unusual number of newcomers in this very picturesque circle in society. The one of highest rank is Marquis Cusani Confalonieri, the ambassador from Italy, who was present to the President on the eve of the latter's departure for the Canal Zone, and has since been kept busy receiving and making the first calls that are de rigueur in the foreign official world. The marquis was Italian minister to Bern before coming to Washington, and his wife, wishing to spend some time with her family in Italy before crossing the ocean for an indefinite stay, is not expected to join him here until December. She will be here, however, for the "small season," whose informality she will take advantage of to learn the ways of the capital before assuming the duties of the last special ambassador as chairman of the legation of King Haakon and Queen Maud. Before coming to this country, Madame Bryn spent several years in Paris, to which her husband was then accredited. It, therefore, goes almost without saying that her wardrobe is replete with chic specimens of the French dressmaker's art.

H. Bryn, the new minister from Norway, who paid his respects to President Taft in accordance with diplomatic custom, on the same day Marquis Confalonieri was presented to the President. The marquis, at the home of former Senator and Mrs. John B. Henderson, Madame Bryn was accompanied by her husband, who is a very charming type of the Norwegian woman of culture, and is sure to become a popular as was Madame Gode, her predecessor as chairwoman of the legation of King Haakon and Queen Maud. Before coming to this country, Madame Bryn spent several years in Paris, to which her husband was then accredited. It, therefore, goes almost without saying that her wardrobe is replete with chic specimens of the French dressmaker's art.

There is rejoicing at the Chinese legation over the birth of a grandchild to the minister and daughter of Henry Chang, honorary attaché of the legation. Mrs. Chang, Jr., who was formerly Miss Isabel Tong, daughter of the late special ambassador from China to this country, came to Washington with the minister and Madame Chang last autumn, and her wedding to their oldest son was an event of the Christmas season. The ceremony was performed according to the rites of Confucianism, and among the witnesses were the bride's youngest sisters, the Misses Isabel and May Tong, who, like the bride, have endeared themselves to schoolmates and neighbors. Minister Chang celebrated the advent of his first grandchild by entertaining a large company of his countrymen at luncheon and at dinner on Friday. Among the guests were members of the Imperial Railway Commission of China, who are spending some time in this country studying the details of transportation.

Miss Eleanor Terry, daughter of Rear-Admiral and Mrs. Terry, and but a few days from her twentieth birthday, will be the guest of honor at the reception of the season at the White House, when, as usual, the diplomatic corps will be guests of honor, and which she, as wife of the dean of the corps, will be the guest par excellence.

There are an unusual number of newcomers in this very picturesque circle in society. The one of highest rank is Marquis Cusani Confalonieri, the ambassador from Italy, who was present to the President on the eve of the latter's departure for the Canal Zone, and has since been kept busy receiving and making the first calls that are de rigueur in the foreign official world. The marquis was Italian minister to Bern before coming to Washington, and his wife, wishing to spend some time with her family in Italy before crossing the ocean for an indefinite stay, is not expected to join him here until December. She will be here, however, for the "small season," whose informality she will take advantage of to learn the ways of the capital before assuming the duties of the last special ambassador as chairman of the legation of King Haakon and Queen Maud. Before coming to this country, Madame Bryn spent several years in Paris, to which her husband was then accredited. It, therefore, goes almost without saying that her wardrobe is replete with chic specimens of the French dressmaker's art.

H. Bryn, the new minister from Norway, who paid his respects to President Taft in accordance with diplomatic custom, on the same day Marquis Confalonieri was presented to the President. The marquis, at the home of former Senator and Mrs. John B. Henderson, Madame Bryn was accompanied by her husband, who is a very charming type of the Norwegian woman of culture, and is sure to become a popular as was Madame Gode, her predecessor as chairwoman of the legation of King Haakon and Queen Maud. Before coming to this country, Madame Bryn spent several years in Paris, to which her husband was then accredited. It, therefore, goes almost without saying that her wardrobe is replete with chic specimens of the French dressmaker's art.

There is rejoicing at the Chinese legation over the birth of a grandchild to the minister and daughter of Henry Chang, honorary attaché of the legation. Mrs. Chang, Jr., who was formerly Miss Isabel Tong, daughter of the late special ambassador from China to this country, came to Washington with the minister and Madame Chang last autumn, and her wedding to their oldest son was an event of the Christmas season. The ceremony was performed according to the rites of Confucianism, and among the witnesses were the bride's youngest sisters, the Misses Isabel and May Tong, who, like the bride, have endeared chusetts Avenue residents this winter. A pretty Monday afternoon wedding of interest to a large company of Virginian residents of the District was that of Miss Lydia Hortense Block, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Block, and Mr. Mortimer Palmer, of Woodford, Va. The ceremony took place in St. Mark's Episcopal Church, the pastor, Rev. Dr. Vries, D. D., officiating, assisted by the bride's brother, Mr. Rev. Karl M. Block, formerly of Virginia.

GRACE PORTER HOPKINS.

WHY NOT?

Why not be in business for yourself? We offer you the opportunity today to build up a business for yourself. You do not have to invest any money and you can make a good profit in addition to what you are making now. We furnish everything a woman needs to make a success. We want a good man in every community to act as our representative. The largest introductory list sent out by any advertising house. Write to-day for our list of names and full particulars. A. F. Hill and Co., Commercial Tailoring Co., Dept. 46, 100-101 Market St., Chicago.

Flowers Mann & Brown
—FLORISTS—
5 W. Broad St. - Richmond, Va.

Can Cancer Be Cured?
IT CAN.
We want every man and woman in the United States to know what we are doing. We are curing Cancers, Tumors and Cancerous Sores without the use of the knife or by X-ray, and are induced by the Senate and Legislature of Virginia. PHYSICIANS TREATED FREE.
We Guarantee Our Cures.

Kellam Hospital,
1617 West Main Street,
RICHMOND - - - VIRGINIA